

Reflection demonstration

After the demonstration it became clear that for our stakeholder the information was overwhelming. Our stakeholder has no background in AI or Financials. To quickly grasp the model we made it helps to have knowledge in one of these fields.

In future iteration, or a next project, we should allow the stakeholder more time to take in the information and maybe reflect on the model with the stakeholder on a later time.

We could also make a more interactive front end so only the essential information is shown to understand the model. This offers the stakeholder the option to better understand the model.